From the President's Pen

Members and Friends,

This is a very busy time for the Executive and Committee members of TTAO. Yes, we are all in the process of implementing plans for the 50th anniversary celebratory events.

On Tuesday April 30, 2012, Keith Anatol and I met with Senator Don Meredith at his office. The Senator showed a genuine interest in our presentation and graciously accepted an invitation to the Ottawa Launch of the 50th anniversary of Independence celebrations of Trinidad & Tobago. He and his wife, Michelle attended the event and Senator Meredith delivered an address on behalf of the Government of Canada. The Senator has also arranged for The Statement in the Senate, to be held on Wednesday June 13, 2012 at 1:30 p.m. and in the House of Commons at a date to be announced.

In May of this year our Treasurer, Dennison Noel, visited Trinidad & Tobago and presented a cheque on behalf of the TTAO to the St. Dominic's home. The funds were realized from the generous purchase of tickets for the raffle held at our Christmas Gala.

Our Education and Culture Committee is now up and functioning; Alfredo Walker (Chairperson) will share the objectives of the Committee further on in this newsletter.

The Association's website ttaa.ca now sports a new look. There are modifications still to be completed. We invite you to visit our website and to encourage your friends to do so.

We hope that you will have an enjoyable and safe Summer. We thank you for your support of the events which we have already hosted. Please mark our upcoming activities on your calendar.

Your continued participation and attendance are essential to the success of the events hosted by the Association and its partners.

Sincerely,

Ingrid John-Baptiste
President.

National Flag of Trinidad and Tobago

The national flag of Trinidad and Tobago was adopted upon the independence of the two islands from Great Britain on August 31, 1962. It was designed by a committee – which included the award winning artist Carlisle Chan - that was formed to select the symbols that would be representative of the people of Trinidad and Tobago. The colours of the flag represent the elements:

- Red for fire, the energy of the sun and the courage and warmth of the people.
- Black for the earth, strength, unity of purpose and the natural wealth of the land.
- White for water, the sea by which the land is bound, the cradle of heritage, the purity of national aspirations, and the equality of all men.

For Adults:

The White Woman on the Green Bicycle

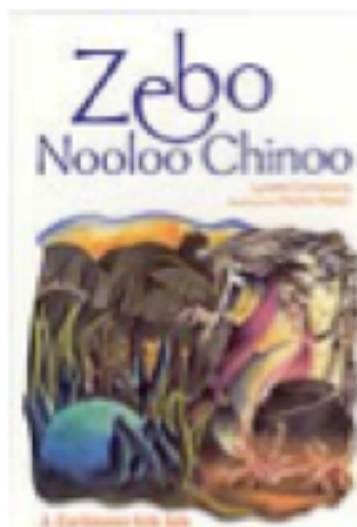

by Monique Roffey

When George and Sabine Harwood arrive in Trinidad from England as young newlyweds, they have with them just a couple of suitcases and Sabine's prized green bicycle. Their intention is to stay for not more than three years, but George falls in love with the island. Sabine, however, feels isolated, heat-fatigued, and ill at ease with the racial segregation and the imminent dawning of a new era. Her only solace is the freedom of her green bicycle and her growing fixation with Eric Williams, the charismatic leader of Trinidad's new national party, to whom she pours out all her hopes and fears for the future in letters that she never brings herself to send.

George and Sabine become more entangled in their life on the island – in all its passion and betrayals – and Sabine's bicycle takes her places she wouldn't otherwise go. When George discovers Sabine's cache of letters, he realizes just how many secrets she's kept from him - and he from her - over the decades. And he is seized by an urgent, desperate need to prove his love for her, with tragic consequences.

The Zebo Nooloo Chinoo: A Caribbean Folk tale

by Lynette Commissiong

Zebo Nooloo Chinoo is a retelling of a traditional Caribbean folktale. Young Isha is hungry but her mean god-mother won't feed her until Isha can guess her given name. For two days she goes hungry, stating every name she knows. When her god-mother leaves one day, Isha goes to the animals in the area, asking them for her god-mother's name. She follows their clues until she comes to Solestine the crab, who happened to overhear the god-mother singing her name. In this classic, beautifully illustrated folk tale, the famous Caribbean crab is changed for evermore, and so are the faces of old women.

How do I
Bring this to life
On a piece of canvas

PRYAM BANN, newly married, started producing her creations in 1974, five years after having immigrated to Canada from Trinidad, West Indies. Later, after getting busy with her family life and raising her three daughters, she regretfully put away her canvasses and brushes. It wasn't until years later, in 2001, during a trip back to her home in Trinidad, she was inspired once again to paint, she had recovered from heart surgery one year earlier. During an hour and a half long trek into the rainforest that she was uncertain she would be able to complete, a secret treasure was waiting to be discovered at the end of the trail: a magnificent waterfall and a sense of rebirth washed over her as she dove into the green and turquoise pool at its base.

Upon her return to Canada, Pryam had a strong desire to recreate the waterfall through her brush strokes. This painting became a gift for her doctor who had always encouraged her to push herself and never give up. It still hangs on his office wall for all his patients to see and experience.

Since that time, Pryam has continued to create with passion; her family and friends have all received these precious gifts which are being shared with you on the walls of this beautiful café. Her creations are an extension of her love for all. Pryam is grateful for her opportunity to express herself through her varied canvases and hopes that you will take a moment when looking at
